The nominee is mainly responsible for the construction of a number of regional international scientific and technological cooperation platforms such as "China-South Asia Technology Transfer Center", "China-ASEAN Innovation Center", "East Asia Summit New Energy Forum" and "China-South Pacific Island Countries Technology Transfer Center". Among them, the China-South Asia Technology Transfer Center has fully played its mechanism and role in building official website and China-South and Southeast Asia International Technology Transfer Trading Network, and constructing sub-centers in five South Asian countries including Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka and bilateral technology transfer center with India. Through years of working, extensive cooperative relations and channels have been established with relevant departments and institutions in seven South Asian countries, at the same time, an effective China-South Asia technology transfer cooperation network is under construction at home and abroad. These efforts have positively contributed to international cooperation between China and other developing countries with an emphasize in scientific and cultural exchanges, industrial technology transfer, scientific and technological response to climate change, and capacity building. These platforms she worked for have played an increasingly important role in regional international technology transfer and scientific and technological cooperation for South and Southeast Asian countries.

Combing with the comparative advantage in sustainable energy and various platforms, the nominee has sorted out and studied the practice of international scientific and technological cooperation in the field of sustainable energy such as solar energy and biomass energy, and the promotion mechanism, policy-making for their development and industrialization.

Innovative Project Statement (up to 300 words): Please provide brief information on the nominee's innovative idea. Please information in English.

Exploration on Industrialization Mechanism in SCO Countries.

Introducing technologies of sustainable energy is not just a process of capital equipment supply from one firm to another. It also includes the transfer of skills and know-how for operating and maintaining technology hardware, and knowledge for understanding this technology so that further independent innovation is possible by recipient countries. Therefore, different stakeholders such as governments, private sector entities, research/education institutions, IP protection department etc. shall be involved. This research aims to explore how to take advantage of each stakeholder in this process in a bid to facilitate the industrialization of sustainable energy products in SCO developing countries.

Participation in Innovation Competitions/Awards/Achievements: Please list previous participation in innovation competitions and awards/achievements, if any. Please provide information in English.
